Songwriter Sessions is a fifteen-week course dedicated to supporting the study of music through the creative process. Students learn the basics of songwriting, basic music theory, and popular song analysis. The course includes activities designed to inspire and alleviate creative blocks. Whether or not one has ever written songs or not, each student will write a song by the end of the course. This class is open to teens and adults and requires that each student has had some previous musical experience.

Shanta Cortez-Greig is a graduate of Wesleyan University. She has extensive experience in working with young children as well as with older children and adults. She has also lived in many different countries throughout the world and brings her international living experiences to the classroom.
